

News of the Society World

THE social rush incident to the holidays with its home-coming of the young people, has already begun and for the next few weeks there will be but few dull or even quiet minutes in society. Mr. and Mrs. William P. Kiser will entertain at an evening affair tomorrow evening for Miss Wall and Lieutenant Green. Another important evening event will be the vaudeville and dancing party at which Mr. and Mrs. Leo Charles Miller will entertain a company of friends next Wednesday evening. Those who enjoyed the hospitality of the home at a similar affair a fortnight earlier for their daughter, Miss Bonnie Miller, will be ready for some interesting "stunts" in vaudeville.

A little more remote among the dancing events is the holiday dance to be given in Ogden by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Emerson Hoag and Mr. and Mrs. Harold John Peery, on December 27, which a large number of their Salt Lake friends are planning to attend. The same evening the men of the University club will be the hosts at their annual Yuletide dancing affair, and the young men of the Wingolf club will entertain at the Hotel Utah.

Meantime, despite the business of Christmas shopping and all the rush attendant on the holiday preparations, there are numerous daytime affairs to fill the present week. Miss Alice Wall is to be guest of honor at a luncheon tomorrow at the Hotel Utah, given by Miss Lucile Clark, and at another on Tuesday at which Miss Margaret Dunn will entertain. Mrs. James A. Irons of Fort Douglas will entertain the Ladies' Auction Bridge club tomorrow afternoon at her home.

The past week has been filled with delightful social events, many of them of rather unusual interest. The opening of the beautiful home of the McCune family for three elaborate events was welcomed by a wide circle of friends, for the place is of itself a delight to all beholders. The gorgeous colonial ballroom with its banquet room adjoining was the scene of the pleasant dancing affairs, but the home is so filled with curios, art treasures and wonderful samples of marvelous workmanship that one wants rather to sit and admire its beauties than to devote the time to gaiety. It is a genuine regret that this magnificent home with all its rich beauty is not more frequently opened to the social life of the community, for it is admirably adapted for just such entertaining as it has had the past few days. The series of parties closed with a most enjoyable affair last evening at which Mrs. McCune, assisted by her two daughters and her two daughters-in-law, entertained about one hundred and fifty of her old friends at a real old-fashioned party. The guests wore the quaint costumes of long ago, the hoops and ruffles of a past age being conspicuous. The hostess wore a gown of black lace made in the style of 1830, and worn over the full hoops of that time. The supper was one of the style of the early pioneer days here and the music was furnished by old-time fiddlers who played the old tunes.

NUMEROUS changes are still going on among the military people, the latest to receive orders to "move on" being Lieutenant and Mrs. Allen W. Gullion, one of the popular young married couples at the post, who are to leave tomorrow for Lexington, Ky. Lieutenant Gullion goes as commandant for the state university of his home state, and so the detail, while separating them from their warm friends in the regiment and from many cordial friends here, is nevertheless a most desirable one. Both Lieutenant and Mrs. Gullion will be missed from local and military society.

Consequent to the departure of the Gullions there will be much moving among the army folk. Lieutenant and Mrs. Harry L. Jordan, who are now in No. 17, will move to No. 1, vacated by the Gullions. Captain and Mrs. Harold D. Coburn will move to No. 17. Captain and Mrs. Harker will also move to No. 6 and Major Uline, who will be joined by Mrs. Uline and the girls shortly after the beginning of the year, will move into No. 18. Captain and Mrs. Charles W. Exton, the newest arrivals, are now settled in their quarters at No. 3, and Lieutenant Jubal A. Early, who has been in Virginia on a lengthy visit is back with his brother, Lieutenant C. G. Early.

Captain and Mrs. George Hensen Estes have been returned to the regiment after some years, during which Captain Estes has been detailed at West Point, and although they are now on leave and traveling through the south, they will be here along in January or February. They will be warmly welcomed at the post, as both are popular with the regiment. Captain Estes is a brother of Mrs. De Witt and Mrs. Estes is a sister of Mrs. Irons.

THE establishing of the booths for the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals will occupy the time of a number of the society matrons and maids for the next few days, and from Wednesday next till Christmas eve the members of the non-Sectarian league and all the friends they can rush into the game, will be selling the attractive little seals which are to help in the fight against tuberculosis by means of the income from their use. Booths are to be established as follows:

THE newest of dances is called the tango, and it is said to have taken San Francisco society by storm. The dance comes from Buenos Ayres and as its name implies, is of Spanish origin. It is said to be much more graceful than the popular "rag" dances have been so far, and doubtless its name will have much to do with its being accepted in polite society. It is doubtful if the puritanical ideas against "ragging" would have held out any time at all if the dances had been less suggestively named.

But to return to the tango. It was given its premiere at a charity entertainment recently where a bunch of the young people danced it on the stage, and later those who witnessed it found it so fascinating that they took lessons in the art and finally brought it out at a debutante dance. A San Francisco writer says of it: "Today every one of the younger set is enthusiastic about it, and with no opposition from their elders, who see nothing to criticize in the airy grace of the tango, it may be safely predicted that before the winter is over the new dance will reign supreme."

A DELIGHTFUL affair of yesterday afternoon was the bridge tea given at the Richmond home on East South Temple street, at which Miss Richmond and Miss Marguerite Richmond entertained over fifty of their friends in compliment to Mrs. Gibson Berry and Mrs. Daniel Alexander. Twelve tables were arranged for the players and later a number of friends came in to enjoy tea at which Mrs. F. E. Steigmeyer and Mrs. M. H. Sowles poured. The rooms were all gay with the Christmas colors of red and green, holly and red flowers making a most attractive decoration. The guests were met at the door by little Marguerite Moran and Genevieve Sowles. Assisting in the dining room and in entertaining the guests were Miss Eleanor Stewart, Miss Alice Wall, Miss Mary Wall, Mrs. John Elliott Clark, Miss Hazel Sappington, Miss Hazel Oswald, Miss Winnifred Dyer and Miss Marjorie Dey.

AN announcement of more than ordinary interest to local society is that of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Marie Dimmitt of Pasadena and J. A. Pollock of this city. Miss Dimmitt is said by those who know her to be one of the most attractive young women of the California city, beautiful, accomplished and cultured. She is one of a well-known Missouri family, the home having been in St. Joseph. For some years past, however, she has made her home in Pasadena. Mr. Pollock left yesterday for the coast to spend the holidays. The marriage will take place about the middle of January.

MAJOR AND MRS. CHARLES CRAWFORD entertained last evening at a beautifully appointed dinner at their quarters, having as their guests Colonel and Mrs. Irons, Colonel and Mrs. Perkins, Major and Mrs. Graves, Mrs. Miller and Major Uline. The decorations were of red and yellow roses and stivias and were most effective. Another delightful dinner at the post was that of Thursday evening, at which Captain and Mrs. De Witt entertained, their guests being Colonel and Mrs. Irons, Colonel and Mrs. Perkins, Major and Mrs. Graves, Major Uline and Captain Morton F. Smith.

MISS EDNA DUNN, who has been in San Francisco for some time with the Calvin family, has recovered entirely from her recent illness and will be home Tuesday. She will be accompanied by the Calvin girls, the Misses Nellie, Carrie and Erminie, all of whom will remain here over Wall-Green wedding. Miss Calvin will be welcomed in society, as she was only a small when the family left here and only recently been presented in society.

Weddings and Engagements

The most elaborate matrimonial fair of the winter is to take place during the coming week, the wedding of Miss Alice Wall, the second daughter of Colonel and Mrs. E. A. Wall, Lieutenant Ned M. Green of the tenth United States infantry, wedding ceremony will take place at St. Mark's cathedral at 5 o'clock Thursday evening, and will be followed by a brilliant reception at the Wall residence at 8:30. The wedding will be attended by her sister, Lewis A. Jeffs, as master of the ceremony and by Miss Mary Wall and
